PARIS DESIGN WEEK FACTORY

Dive into cutting edge design with four essential destinations: innovation, craftsmanship, international programming, and collectible design... Make sure you stay up to date with all the newest designers and their one-of-a-kind production.

Paris Design Week Factory invites you on a versatile journey through the most beautiful city in the world to discover the key design talents of tomorrow. From the September 5th to 9th, this thrilling edition promises to open the door to a vibrant and innovative ecosystem. Here, talents are put in the spotlight, new creative profiles emerge, and international signatures that shape the future of design are showcased.

With Paris Design Week Factory, four locations offer you an inspiring journey marked by novelty:

Espace Communes with Meet Met Met showcases an overview of new collectible design, Galerie Joseph on Rue Froissart gathers emerging design brands, the gallery on Rue de Turenne is dedicated to an exhibition celebrating relations with China, "Chinese Way of Beauty," and Galerie Ellia presents a cutting-edge selection of Craft Design.

It's time to dive in!

ESPACE COMMINES: the collectible design emerging talents, 17 Rue Communes

Espace Communes brings together young talents curated this year by Thibault Huguet and Jean-Baptiste Anotin of the collective Meet Met Met.

Their collaboration began three years ago when they exhibited side by side at Paris Design Week Factory. Each leading their own design studio, they now pass the baton by selecting young talents in collectible design, resonating with this year's theme: Terra Cosmos.

Espace Communes is also the venue for conferences and workshops organized by Formae magazine, a publication specializing in design and architecture know-how. The workshops are focused on the four inspirations: water, earth, air, and fire.

Formae magazine also organizes conferences on new design practices: self-production, material choices, local practices, new kinds of beauty, and new dynamics.

GALERIE JOSEPH – FROISSART: an overview of young design brands, 7 Rue Froissart

They have graduated within the last five years and have ventured into making and creating their own brands. These young designers are often meeting the public and professionals for the first time. Paris Design Week offers them their first launch pad. This is where future stars and tomorrow's trends are identified. This year, they're coming from various countries including France, Saudi Arabia, Spain, Eswatini, South Korea, China, Indonesia, and Switzerland.

Designer Pierre Charrié presents the result of his residency in Indonesia, supported by CushCush Gallery in Bali and the Institut Français. Finally, as part of its Festival, Le Monde newspaper showcases an original collection of eighty reading lamps, designed by Studio 5.5 and made with Tetra Pak. Each lamp reproduces a historic front page of the newspaper, published between 1944 and 2023.

GALERIE JOSEPH – TURENNE: "Chinese way of Beauty" at 84 rue de Turenne, 75004 Paris

This year, France celebrates the sixtieth anniversary of its diplomatic relationship with China by General de Gaulle.

In a dedicated space on Rue de Turenne, come discover a unique showcase of Chinese talents. From the 5th to the 11th of September, the exhibition "CHINESE WAY OF BEAUTY" brings together fifteen exhibitors representing the new Chinese aesthetic in a 230 m² space.

Established or emerging brands, as well as local or foreign designers living in China, the pieces of furniture and objects showcased use both traditional techniques and futuristic new technologies. Each one creates a picture of what "Chinese beauty" can be.

An invitation is extended to foreign professionals who wish to come and create on-site, thereby establishing collaborative bridges with this creative scene.

GALERIE ELLIA: the avant-garde of Craft design at 10 rue de Turenne, 75004 Paris

This section of Paris Design Week Factory brings together the avant-garde of Craft Design.

The practice of traditional craftsmanship appeals to an increasing number of young designers who set up their own businesses and produce limited series on demand.

Self-proclaimed "Makers," their design practice aims to be frugal and virtuous, counterbalancing the excesses of a standardized industrial world.

They work with glass, ceramics, metal, wood, and textiles, inventing a new craftsmanship. They bring a fresh perspective to often ancient techniques, without hesitating to use cutting-edge tools like computer-aided design and 3D printers.

At 10 Rue de Turenne, you can also discover young Tunisian artisans who are renewing the practices of rug making, pottery, ceramics, and metalwork.

About

Paris Design Week

Created in 2010 by Maison&Objet, Paris Design Week aims to bring the city to life every September, raising awareness among the general public and professionals alike of the latest trends and thinking in the world of design, decoration and the art of living.

Organised in parallel with the Maison&Objet show, Paris Design Week is an opportunity to discover new things and meet people in showrooms, boutiques and galleries, as well as in institutions such as museums and schools. It's a meeting place for all those involved in design.

With a focus on emerging talent, Paris Design Week aims to be a springboard for young talent, giving them the opportunity to showcase their work in an exceptional setting, with the city as a backdrop.

Paris Design Week is also an opportunity for families, design lovers and the curious to experience Paris in a different light, thanks to temporary installations in the city's cultural venues, created by designers and open free of charge to all.

Punctuated by vernissage evenings and talks, Paris Design Week puts conviviality and exchange at the heart of its programme, bringing together professionals and the general public to share the essence of design at the crossroads of commerce and culture. Follow Paris Design Week on social networks.

About Maison&Objet

Maison&Objet (SAFI, a joint subsidiary of Ateliers d'Art de France and RX France) has been leading and bringing together the international decoration, design, and lifestyle community since 1994.

Its trademark is its ability to elicit productive international meetings, to drive the visibility of the brands that join its exhibitions and its digital platform, but also its singular instinct for highlighting the trends that will set the heart of the interior design planet racing. Maison&Objet's mission is to reveal talent, to offer opportunities for discussion and inspiration both online and offline, and to facilitate the development of businesses.

With two annual exhibitions and Paris Design Week in September, Maison&Objet serves as an indispensable barometer for the entire sector. Online since 2016, MOM (Maison&Objet and More) allows buyers and brands to continue their exchanges, launch new collections, and make contacts beyond physical meetings. Weekly launches of new products provide an ongoing boost to the industry. In 2023, Maison&Objet rolled out new digital services, and MOM also became a marketplace.

On social networks, discoveries are made on a daily basis by a community of almost 2 million active professionals on Facebook, Instagram (+1M followers), Twitter/X, LinkedIn, Xing, WeChat, and now TikTok.

Spearheading the Paris Capitale de la Création label, Maison&Objet is a catalyst for positioning Paris as a major magnet for international creative talents.
